INSTRUCTIONS: This form must be completed and submitted to the Office of Financial Aid along with a primary physician's certifying statement of the student's ability to secure gainful employment prior to awarding any student financial aid. Sign and date only one section below depending upon whether you wish to borrow a new federal student loan.

The National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS) indicates that you have one or more federal student loans that have been either totally or conditionally discharged because of total and permanent disability. The reference to total and permanent disability is a condition of an individual who is unable to work and earn money because of an injury or illness that is expected to continue indefinitely or result in death.

Section A:

I do not wish to be considered for federal student loans and prefer to only be considered for federal and/or state grants as determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) results.

Section B:

Before you can be considered for additional federal student loans, you must confirm you understand the following:

1. IF my Federal Student Loan(s) have been totally discharged due to a total and permanent disability, I understand that this new loan cannot later be cancelled based on any present condition unless that condition substantially deteriorates to the extent that the definition of total and permanent disability, as defined above, is again met.
2. IF my Federal Student Loan(s) have been conditionally discharged due to a total and permanent disability and the conditional period hasn't elapsed, I understand that collection will resume on the conditionally discharged loan(s) (which must begin before receipt of the new loan) and that unless my condition substantially deteriorates to the extent that the definition of total and permanent disability, as defined above, is again met, the prior loan can't be discharged in the future.
3. I understand that I must complete Section B of the Loan Discharge Statement each time I am scheduled to receive a new loan.

I have read the above information and am fully aware that my new federal student loan(s) cannot later be cancelled on the basis of any present impairment unless that condition substantially deteriorates to the extent that the definition of total and permanent disability, as outlined by the Department of Education, is again met. I also understand that collection may resume on any loans that have been conditionally discharged.
